Past & Current Areas:

The Forum for Awareness and Youth Activity (FAYA) Nepal was founded in 1995 and registered as an NGO with the District Administration Office Kailali and affiliated with the Social Welfare Council. Initially, FAYA focused on empowering youths and their networks to tackle social issues. In 2004, it started leading and participating in various human rights networks/alliances, with a public policy agenda that included advocating for equal pay, safe rehabilitation of freed Kamaiya, and strengthening women's networks. FAYA has contributed to numerous rights-based social movements over the years, such as the Kamaiya and women's rights movements. In 2009, FAYA adopted four foundational themes and three cross-cutting themes to consolidate its priorities and gain recognition as a leading rights-based development organization. In 2014, FAYA further consolidate its strategy, focusing on promoting food security, sustainable livelihoods, and supporting citizen initiatives for quality public services and local governance, as well as addressing violence against women. FAYA has also engaged in humanitarian actions during emergencies, contributing to its reputation as a multidimensional human rights-based development organization. Its partnerships with various development partners, including governmental, non-governmental, and private sector organizations, have significantly contributed to its achievements.

Innovation

Innovative ideas and actions will support FAYA to utilize their resources and environment differently and creatively. The innovation will be reflected in its program or services delivery, resource mobilization, social marketing, utilizing communications techniques and in the application of technologies

Do No Harm

Respect to social harmony is one of the values of FAYA Nepal. During planning, programming and actions, it will take all possible steps to follow the DNH framework, considering the local context.

Event based actions

Complementing its long-term projects, FAYA will explore and organize short- term project and especially the events- based actions. They may range from local community-based events to mega- events.

Localization

FAYA has pledged its support for Charter4Change, which was endorsed by the World Humanitarian Summit, and is dedicated to promoting localization. Localization encompasses three distinct scenarios: firstly, the adaptation of global resources and aid to meet the specific needs and demands of the local community; secondly, the integration of global knowledge and technologies into local contexts; and thirdly, the implementation of bottom-up collaboration with the local community in program design and implementation.

Strategic Partnership

FAYA aims to build strategic partnerships at a national level by establishing bilateral and multilateral ties with non-governmental organizations and people's forums. In addition to strengthening its existing networks and expanding into new ones at the local, national, and international levels.
